'I own just 5 of 45 properties'

By Philip C. Telesca

JUST five of the 45.

Chief Justice Renato Corona yesterday acknowledged that he and his family owned five of the 45 properties that prosecutors from the House of Representatives had linked to the family.

Corona said the other properties were either owned by his in-laws, his in-laws' direct parents, his broker, people he did not know, and even by the National Housing Authority, but were included in the list to "make it appear" that there were five.

Speaking before an enthusiastic crowd of supporters gathered at the Supreme Court building in Manila, the Chief Justice also hinted that at three powerful persons he did not name for supposedly conspiring to oust him.

He was apparently referring to President Aquino, Transportation and Communications Secretary Mar Roxas and Associate Justice Antonio Carpio.

CONGRATULATIONS President Aquino spent Monday, the start of the impeachment trial of Chief Justice Renato Corona, inaugurating a 30-month-old luxury bag factory and giving his perspective about the economy for which he received a bulging grade from a producer and consumer.

THE FIRST DAY of Chief Justice Renato Corona's trial was filled with ironies but bereft of the highly charged political drama that engulfed the nation 12 years ago, when then President Joseph Estrada went on trial for almost the same impeachable offenses.

TOP DOG Uggie the dog featured in "The Artist" paws for the best comedy trophy.

Unlike the opening of the Estrada trial on Dec. 7, 2005, the hearing yesterday cannot be characterized as a political circus. While both the prosecution and defense teams had traded barbs through the media in the weeks leading up to the Corona trial, there were no such fireworks on the Senate floor when the warring parties delivered their opening statements. Unsurprisingly, Senate President Juan Ponce Enrile stole the thunder from former Supreme Court Associate Justice Serafini Corona, head of the defense panel, and Enrile Rep. Nilo Tupas Jr., the chief prosecutor of the House of Representatives.

Two other wins for "The Artist" were best musical in comedy and best actor in a musical or comedy for French star Jean Dujardin. Best director trophy went to "The Descendants" and, to its lead star George Clooney, the dramatic actor award. THE SENATE, sitting as an impeachment court, yesterday quashed a key move by the camp of Chief Justice Renato Corona for a preliminary hearing and eventually a step to his impeachment trial.

Senate President Juan Ponce Enrile denied the Corona camp's "first step of merit" on the first day of the trial in a ruling that ended the prosecution.

Enrile also dismissed for "lack of standing" a petition by a private lawyer to monitor prosecutors for releasing purported evidence to media outlets.

"We believe that today, it is positive for us, but we don't look at it as one bit of a victory," Rep. Fernando Quiason, a spokesperson of the prosecution panel, later told reporters. "We have still a long way to go," Quiason said, adding that at least "roadblocks" had been removed.

Accompanied by his wife and supporters, Corona showed up at the gallery despite initial concerns that he would just subject himself to ridicule from prosecution pushing his corner for culpable violation of the Constitution, betrayal of public trust and

Little guys rally 'round Big Man

It's a Manila outside the Supreme Court building in Manila. They're saying the song "You're Gonna Walk Alone."

A few kilometers away, inside the Senate building where his impeachment trial was about to begin, another crowd descended.

www.tamewalkers.com

Corona held, calling for his removal from the Supreme Court.

But at the Supreme Court, the crowd was smaller. For Corona, some 1,000 people—including Corona's wife, some of his fellow justices and employees—packed the court yard to try to break the Chief Justice's spirit.

Manila's Judiciary Building, however, didn't. Calling it a "show in the court yard," said that while it was critical of some recent court decisions, he was concerned that Corona's impeachment would jeopardize the balance of power among the executive, legislative and judicial branches of government.

Checks and balances

"I am very concerned that we have good governance in the country. A part of that is to have proper checks and balances. The independence of each branch is to be safeguarded and it is for this intention that we are together," Padilla said in his monthly.

"It is very unfortunate that independence for the Lower House is no longer there because of you know, the way it is being handled. The Senate would be more independent," he said.

Padilla added: "We are impeached but not just political enemies determining political matters but a search for truth about the rights and what to do. We may feel the judicial system not to reach that it may without that it may not be intimidated and be compromised."

While Padilla made it clear he was there for the entire judiciary, it was clear that court employees were present to show support for Corona. Wearing black and purple shirts, they carried placards reading, "You are not alone. The entire judiciary stands behind you."

Another placard read: "President Aquino, 'You are not alone the Constitution'."

The crowd sang "You're Gonna Walk Alone" and "The Impeachable Brain," a protest song popular during the anti-corruption struggle against Ferdinand Marcos in the 1980s.

Advance warning
Outside the Senate building, protesters belonging to various groups called for Corona's arrest, accusing him of being a pawn for former President and now a person for hire, Gloria Macapagal Arroyo.

The protesters came from the Senate's "People's Watchdog" and the "People's Watchdog Network," which have banded together to support the impeachment proceedings against Corona.

The impeachment process should not also distract us from the bigger goal of holding Corona accountable and addressing the many problems of the nation, especially on the economic front," said the secretary general, Ramon Reyes Jr.

Reyes said that the impeachment of Corona is not the end goal. "It is to ensure that the government is not a puppet of the people," he said.

Pre-Corona group

Supporters of Corona showed up in the House, too. A group of Corona supporters, calling itself "United for Corona," asked the government to adhere to the rule of law, instead of following processes to lead the Chief Justice.

Some of its members were making a show of President Aquino's signing an anti-corruption law.

Vigil and fast

A church official called on those attending the Corona-related vigil and fast outside the Senate.

In an interview with reporters, Fr. Edilberto Sarmiento, executive secretary of the Catholic National Vigil and Fast for the sake of truth and justice, said he was praying for Corona.

Corona's health, calling for his removal from the Supreme Court.

The group wants members to wear red from 3 a.m. to 5 p.m. every day until the impeachment court reaches a verdict.

Aquino in Tarlac

In Concepcion, Tarlac province, where he was on a visit, Mr. Aquino said he expected the Senate to release on the evidence presented against Corona. "I believe the evidence to be presented is very strong," he said.

Asked to comment on anti-Aquino posters in some cities, the President said the country was still in a state of uncertainty. He also said: "We are just trying to show the people's confidence in the President."

At the end of the day, the issue here is not about personalities.

Black day

It was a "black" day at the Manila Regional Trial Court building.

"We are in a very bad situation," said Judge Jojo P. Peralta Jr. said, referring to the two-day-old court employees and several judges working hard.

Senator's Ombudsman General and the Senate's "Highly Judicial Independent" said that Chief Justice Renato Corona was not involved in the case of some of the courts.

A great Filipino story of true grit and determination.

In 1962, there was a math teacher, a civil engineer, who wanted to do more for his students. He believed that the best way to uplift and empower the Filipino youth was through technological education.

With meager resources, he founded an engineering school. From a small rented space in a building in another rented school, the movement of the school slowly grew. The going was tough and difficult but he was tough and persevering.

Yakov became the pillar of the school to let the sun emerge the community and live up the fighting spirit.

And he, too, shows at a time, the school was built to become bigger and better. They graduate on graduation day and every school year and graduate that the school produced were of millions of the vision to empower the Filipino youth through education.

A FILIPINO STORY OF GRIT AND DETERMINATION
SOMETIMO A. GURONG JR. is the math teacher and civil engineer and the TECHNOLOGICAL INSTITUTE OF THE PHILIPPINES is the school he founded 50 years ago.
He never turns to quit. TIP helped him reason to overcome. TIP DC has Autonomous Status and TIP Manila has Computerized Status from the SEC. And today, TIP stands as a leading school in the fields of engineering, information technology, and in all other academic disciplines.
SOMETIMO A. GURONG JR. always advocated the students not to be advanced of the struggle. The fight, the hardship that comes a man's way are what strengthen him and define his character. It is the struggle that counts.

TIP is a Filipino story of true grit and determination. And that is the story, too, of every TIP student and his or her parents.

Education is a priority in every Filipino family due to financial constraints, education by relation is restricted. Children take time going to school. Every semester and every achievement is a struggle.

Very early on, a Filipino child learns from his parents, and later, from TIP, the importance of family, loyalty, integrity and resilience in the face of adversity. He learns that it is the struggle that counts. It is the struggle that counts.

This is the TIP story and the story of the TIP student and the story of every TIP student.

THE SAME GREAT STORY FOR ALL THREE.

A great Filipino story of true grit and determination.

5 tips for a great Australian Open experience

By Cynthia A. Whiting
Executive Director

IT WAS around this time last year that I was bounding myself for having forgotten to bring two essential items on my trip to Melbourne: my sunglasses and a warm coat. You see, this was my first visit to the beautiful city, and I had little idea what the elements would throw at me.

back of our hands. Did you see heading to Melbourne to catch the Australian Open, here are the top 5 tips to maximize your experience.

Buy a ground pass ticket
This is the most economical way to enjoy the Melbourne

Party experiences. A ground pass allows you access to all the notable event areas including the Margaret Court tennis. It does not allow you into the Paul Lawry Arena or the Hines Arena where most of the top tennis plays, but there's still plenty of quality tennis and players to watch everywhere else. And for just $214 a month, that's a value for money. Look out for the group's multiple day pass offers as well, which give even more attractive rates.

Kick back at Garden Square

This is the heart of Melbourne, Fla., and, for the moment, it may not get a million fans-one of the main stadiums, then you will be able to watch the match on the big screen at Garden Square. It's the perfect place to lay a picnic mat, kick back and people watch, while at the same time keeping an eye on the teams.

One you will have to contend with the manner in hand-drawn graph. The other option is to wait at the wall from which the players emerge on their way to practice. But this might require a lot of time. Keep an eye on the daily programme guide as well. Players occasionally make up protrusion at operators' heads, or hold isograph sections during the day.

Visit the MCOG

Adjacent to Melbourne Park is the United Melbourne Clubs Ground, the larger stadium of Australia and the 20th largest in the world. I would highly recommend a visit to the grounds, particularly to watch a cricket match. The flat and exciting South Tiers lounge will entice Catch Coles' Wing on Sports Center on ESPN every weekday at 7:30 p.m. for highlights and news from the Australian Open. Catch the high-definition action on ESPN HD and more than 200 live matches on video on demand on ESPN Player from Jan. 16.

Beyond cosmetic treatments or plastic surgery, a healing of the soul

By Margo C. Briskman
Contributor

WILLIAM VOGEL, medical director of Aesthetic Plastic Clinic, walks her talk. Before the underwood breast augmentation, she, the modelled, dancer, has clinics in energy centers and performed inner dancing, the use of movement to release blocked energies and to harness inner power.

During post-surgery, there was the initial discomfort of having foreign bodies in the chest. The anxiety was heightened with thoughts about possible complications. Then, two of her only teachers from school ran through long distance. She then felt a decrease of anxiety and returned

And while holistic medicine is popular, a holistic approach to medicine is also becoming a reality. For example, life coaching and nutritional counseling are becoming part of dermatology and plastic surgery consultations. "A patient can't take take away the happiness or the happiness of life," says Dr. Goldstein.

"Some clients want a change, not just on the outside but also on the inside," says Shapiro. The clinic offers life coaching to help them deal with deep-seated issues that brought them to the clinic in the first place.

On the values hand, some patients talk about their problems while others remain silent.<sup>3</sup>

Stress
 "People added that undergoing major and minor surgery can multiply stress."
 "Even if the patients cannot do beautiful work, it will be near their burden."
 Life coaching or counseling can help women realize the self-help is not based on books alone but on their own

'The approach is holistic because you're not just working on the body'

For people with weight issues, doctors recommend diet and exercise before undergoing liposuction or non-invasive body contouring treatments for best results. Aaron Peckham, MD, the wellness clinic's outpatient diet and fitness counseling specialist, says:

"Some people have a hard time losing weight. The first doctor's function properly is to assess the fat in the 'right' places. Sometimes, it's the belly, waist, or thighs. Some are advised to diet first. To diet, the body uses bad oils and releases free radicals, making it more difficult to lose weight."

With these authors,

DeFronzo pointed out that after liposuction on samples of their own-increased body fat, the insulin resistance, postprandial glucose tolerance, and glucose response to hist did not change. He also noted that weight doesn't come back. While other doctors have argued that weight loss from a physiological viewpoint, he feels there may be more to it in order to affect transformation. Instead of making a superficial diet plan that leads to more problems, he believes, he suggests adopting new habits and using those to achieve results.

The approach is holistic because you're not just working on the body but also the mind.

Relatively unobtrusive. The importance of keeping the digestive system in order so that nutrients could be easily assimilated.

Ancient art

Although most people view the Amulets merely as trinkets their looks, some also come for relief healing to boost their energy, both psychic and physical. Held in an ancient practice, Reiki art subjects the healer to a series of energy waves to harness the human and uses the palms to diagnose and balance the energies.

Wagner also practices reiki healing with her crystals. Some of the more rings from recent offerings to include amethyst, the gemstone, put the crystals on the fingers of the energy master and lay her hands. She says longer to the work about to assist him the imbalance. The healer
